A Mysterious Change

My uncle John was a respectable _____worker_____ in a big company. He worked every day in a big office, but his routine felt _____ . He wanted a change but didn't know how.

One day, something _____ happened. He found a strange book about _____ and improvement. The book said, "If you want to change your life, you must _____ your thoughts and actions." John was curious. He started reading more and learning new things every day.

At first, the changes happened _____ . But with each day, he became better. The more he learned, the more _____ he felt. He knew that each small step was important. His friends and family noticed the _____ in him. They said he was more _____ to others and always smiling.

One day, John met a former teacher, who told him, "You've worked hard. Your progress is real. I _____ your efforts." That made John very proud.

Now, John is not only a worker in an office but also a teacher who helps others. His life has changed for the better. He knows that with patience, education, and a positive attitude, everything is possible.
